DESIGN THAT INSPIRES

ARCHITECT AND INTERIORS DESIGNER TEENA KHATNANI IS ON A STEADFAST MISSION TO TRANSFORM AND BUILD SPACES THAT REFLECT HER ETHOS OF 'FORM MEETS FUNCTION'

After acquiring her Bachelor's degree in architecture from Allana College of Architecture, Pune, Teena Khatnani went on to establish TKADesigns, mid-pandemic in January 2021. From then to now, she has gradually worked her way towards crafting purpose-driven spaces with stylish narratives. The young designer has accrued a wealth of knowledge with the projects she has undertaken through Covid...after all, more than ever, the need for smart, well-planned spaces, saw a dramatic ask in recent times for obvious reasons. The challenges she has faced through a burgeoning tenure as an architect and interiors designer have guided her to reflect on curating spaces that are reflective of the brief while staying true to her vision of what the spatial planning and style road map should finalise in.

Teena's forte lies in creating user-friendly spaces and this is reflective in the varied portfolio she has worked on and is currently working on. She goes on to explain, "Over the years our projects have grown in scale as well as expanded to many other cities. We are looking at expanding our horizons in the coming years."

From commercial, health care and residential, the young designer has done it with elan and is gearing to step into more avenues of design. She summarises her vision for the future eloquently, "Design has always been an important part with extreme attention to it functions and small details that enhance it. We Inco-operate design wherever necessary, don't believe in over doing our designs, as design should be pleasing to the eye but more importantly the function and flow in the space should be very peaceful and do what it is built for."
